

Importance of Technical College Training In Beginning Career

Graduates rated how important their technical college training was in beginning their career. Of the 7,376 respondents, 4,249 thought their training was very important, 1,757 said it was important, 824 rated their training as somewhat important, only 418 said it was of no importance and 128 did not respond to this question.

Recommend Technical College Education

Graduates were asked if they would recommend technical college education to others. Of the 7,376 respondents, 5,735 said they would definitely recommend it; 1,220 said maybe; 251 said they would not recommend technical college education to others, and 170 did not respond to this question.

